Now re- assemble everything and hopefully you should be fine Another solution is to connect two long wires (normal 5amp wire is ok) to the ends that you cut off in step 4, and chase the wires back to the dashboard of the car, and mount the switch somewhere in the dashboard, so that you can open the door from inside the car!Nissan K1.. Cut the two wires right next to the block (don't be afraid!) Remember to keep the wire you have just cut, as it has the connector on the end! The main block will separate into two pieces by releasing some indented catches (brute force may be required, but take care not to damage the casing!) You need to hollow everything out of this side so that you are left with just the outer casing.. Now you have your latch free from the car Using a star bit (not sure what size) unscrew the four star screws. e10c4156ff
